PARIS, Oct. 6.—Here in the very latest from the Longchamps race course, where fashions are made and races are run. These are some of the fashionable oddities which are the thing today as they were introduced at the Grand Prix Sunday: Tanga trouserettes with pockets; absence of corsets; red lace stockings; red velvet slippers; a slouching walk with the hat on the back of the head, the shoulders thrown forward and hands in the pockets; a skirt that reaches a trifle below the knees, and a style of headgear that reveals the hair.

BETTING S EVEN ON E E OF SERIES

New York Fans Refuse to Plunge
Heavily on Giants Until After First Game.

By BILLY SMITH,
Manager Atlanta Team.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The advance guard of the out-of-town army of baseball fans filtered into town today and at once went into "training" for the battle to-morrow when 50,000 fans of the national game will be in the 30,000 unreserved seats that will be placed on sale at the Polo Grounds at 2 p. m. for the first world series game between the Athletics and Giants.

Many came a day in advance for the first big game in the hope of buying reserved seats and thus avoiding long and weary hours of waiting in line for the unreserved seats—and even then running a chance of not getting any. But they came too late. Every reserved seat for all the games in New York has been sold out.

Others came in the hope of getting in some seventh hour, first hand seats relative to the status of both teams so that they might find some basis for the wagering of the money which they took along from their home towns. But their mission, too, was a vain one.

New York Gamblers Say.
They found the gambling element in New York eager as they were to wager huge sums on the outcome of the blue ribbon event of baseball, but still unwilling to risk their own money because of the betting problem that the present series carries.

The gamblers who have studied the "game" connected by expert baseball writers and expert bettors have come to the belief to-day that the series which begins to-morrow will furnish an answer to the world-out question: "What will happen when the irresistible force meets the immovable object?"

Not one straight-away bet of any size on the outcome of the series has been so far registered, either here or in Philadelphia. Down in the Wall Street district, where hundreds of thousands of dollars were wagered in other years on the baseball season, come reports from the betting commission that not more than $5,000 has so far been placed with them.

Of this sum about $2,000 has been laid at even money on the series. The rest is in freak wagers—bets on the total number of runs or the other team makes during the entire series or during a certain game, bets as to which pitcher will participate in the opening game, as to what sort of betting or betting average a certain player will have and similar wagers.

Start at Even Money.
From this angle it looks as if the teams will go into battle to-morrow at even money and carry but little of the gamblers' money with them and that the gambling element will "lay hands" until after the first game, get a line on the relative strength of the teams through the medium of that battle and then lay odds and begin betting in earnest.

While the National Commission was holding a session here to put a stop to the betting on the door handle.

BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP CENTERS ON DASH

Dorsey Prepares to Support Juror
Henslee's Denial of Any Prejudicial Statement.

The extreme thoroughness with which the attorneys for Lee M. Frank have not about substantiated their charge of prejudice and bias against A. H. Henslee, one of the jurymen who declared Frank guilty of murder, made it evident Monday that the lawyers will want their fight around this one instance of alleged unfairness as so glaring as to constitute in itself and alone a sufficient ground for a new trial.

Many persons with whom Henslee talked before the trial were interviewed by agents of Attorney Russell A. Arnold. One deposition was taken by another until the lawyers considered that they had obtained an unassailable ground for a retrial of the convicted man.

Assistant District Attorney Henslee, who is preparing for a determined fight against their contention, he believes that Henslee has been misinterpreted. He is prepared to take the word of Henslee himself that he uttered no statements to the effect that he considered Frank guilty and would have to have a part in bringing about his hanging.

Henslee's reported denial of 25 alleged conversations brought a reply from the attorneys for Lee M. Frank, who recently made depositions that they had overheard remarks of the juror mentioned. They prepared a signed statement, in which they reiterated their allegations of prejudice and bias against Henslee and declared that Henslee must have been misquoted in his reputation of the remarks.

The statement was signed by John M. Holmes and Holmes & Walker, attorneys for Lee M. Frank, and John M. Johnson, partner of the firm, and Mr. Gray. All assert they were present when Henslee made the remarks in regard to the guilt of Frank two days before the trial.

"Practically Trial Frank," the letter read.

"You must recall in Mr. Holmes' deposition, on the day stated, that in the presence of the undersigned, we actually tried him, as it were, and that in the discussion, we not only told him that he was guilty, but that you had much to say about Frank being a moral degenerate and your language we can not use as a further basis that you were drawn as a juror."

"We have no disposition to impugn him or to make public your statements, but we assure you that the remarks of the juror, as stated, are not known how the attorneys were so confident of the fact of this conversation, but your remarks were completely false."

"We do not intend to make a voluntary affidavit in the matter and ask nothing offered to be by the court, but let us assure you that the remarks made to you are not known how the attorneys were so confident of the fact of this conversation, but your remarks were completely false."

TWO BRIGHT STARS OF TEAMS IN BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Betting Even on Day Before First Game—Gotham Fans Not Wagering Heavily.

From this angle it looks as if the teams will go into battle to-morrow at even money and carry but little of the gamblers' money with them and that the gambling element will "lay back" until after the first game, get a line on the relative strength of the teams through the medium of that battle and then lay odds and begin betting in earnest.

While the National Commission was holding a session here to put the finishing touches to the arrangements for the big event, there lurked "scurry" stories from the rival camps. From the Athletics' side came the report that several of the players were suffering from bad colds, etc., which "may" as affect their physical condition that they may not be able to do themselves full justice and perhaps may not be able to play in the event.

The Giants realized by stating that Rodriguez, the center fielder, had an almost fatal attack of "stomach trouble" that Larry Doyle, captain and batting champion, might not be able to get into the game because his arm, injured about ten days ago in an automobile accident, was not "rounding out" and that a large number of the other 25 Giants eligible to play in the battles were indisposed by colds or other ailments.

Smith to Get New Players.

It is a safe wager that all the "fast" athletes will be at their positions when the battle begins and that each and every one will be in the excellent physical condition as to make it a certainty that the coming World Series battle will be the most thrilling, most highly contested and the closest in the history of the major league meetings.

When it came to New York, in Clark Griffith's motor car, four in the party and a fine trip to Washington was being on the Atlantic coast and seemed to the business all over but collecting.

While in New York, I expect to buy several players in the event, but I am not sure (think Stallings has some players that would look us out a great deal next year).

Hearst's SUNDAY AMERICAN, published in Atlanta, reached a total circulation of over 100,000 on August 24. Each Sunday following has shown a solid, substantial increase. The first issue of THE SUNDAY AMERICAN was published on April 6, 1913. To establish a Sunday newspaper with over 100,000 net paid circulation in six months is an unparalleled achievement. The important thing in newspaper circulation is solid growth. This appended figure makes an amazing record of newspaper growth of the right kind.

Attention is called to the third column in the following table, under the head "Variouly Distributed." The figures so given include papers distributed to advertising agencies throughout the United States, sent to hotels for files, to charitable and public institutions, to advertisers in the South, to employees, for files, for samples, etc. Such distribution is regarded as the best kind of circulation, although not classified as net.

Governor Slaton Personally Investigates and Verifies the Circulation of The Georgian and Hearst's Sunday American. :: ::

DAILY GEORGIAN AND SUNDAY AMERICAN

October 4th 1913.

At the request of the management of The Atlanta Georgian and The Sunday American, I personally examined on Friday afternoon their various circulation statements, in detail. This work required sometime, but it was willingly given, because I regard these newspapers as enterprises of which all Georgia should be proud. The figures the papers furnish, under oath, to the postal authorities show a marvelous growth for the time The Georgian and Sunday American have been in Mr. Hearst's hands—particularly The Sunday American, which is only six months old.

These circulation figures I have checked up and verified in person. I have examined the sworn statements of the circulation manager and the cashier of The Georgia corporation, and cross questioned them in detail about the circulation figures. I believe the figures to be absolutely correct.

Purely from a business man's viewpoint, both The Georgian and The Sunday American, in points of quality and quantity of circulation, should be, and I have no doubt are, highly satisfactory and effective advertising mediums. Certainly they are most excellent newspapers, and should commend themselves to merchants for business purposes.

The fine circulation showings furnish me ample foundation for warm congratulations. I sincerely wish for Mr. Hearst and his Georgia newspapers the fullest measure of prosperity and success—both of which seem assured. I am persuaded this great publisher means to be consistently a firm and powerful friend of Atlanta, Georgia, and the whole South, and I well know his ability to do big things in a big way.

John M. Slaton.

The Nashville shippers, it is alleged, have been allowed to unload grain from the Northwest, keeping the Nashville shippers out for the last six months, and then ship it on at the low rate, while the other Southern cities, the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, the road involved, defended its action on the grounds that it was necessary to meet competition on the Cumberland River. Should the case be decided adversely to the railroad it probably will

Bank of England's Effort to Check Outflow of Gold Prevents Money Riot.

By R. C. FORBES.

The United States has shipped $25,000,000 worth of cotton to Europe, within the short space of one month.

$25,000,000 more is on the way, and does not want to pay us in gold. That is one reason why the bank of England has raised its rate of discounting bills.

Bank of England is still the of the whole banking world, and its rate is most unusual, and the rate of 5 per cent is high. Do the bank—the leading commercial bank in London—form the directorate of the Bank of England, know from their official connection with the government, that something has gone wrong in England? I don't know.

Living facts would seem to indicate that the bank is in a division to check any outflow of gold.

The bank lost $15,000,000 gold in the last week, and now holds a net of $10,000,000.

Bank must have a large amount of gold to insure its excellent condition.

It is imposing a heavy drain on London to handle her business and to pay her bills.

Most the inevitable demand for gold is being met.

It is not South Africa taking most of the gold of England.

Germany is being exceeded only by the United States Treasury.

Use of gold through exports is threatened by our early shipments of cotton.

Bank of England objected to any movement at this time in the more comfortable money conditions here than in London.

The private or open market, discount had gone so high in London that the English bank would have to shut down its 4-1-2 rate.

Increasing governmental borrowing throughout Europe is an abnormal state that financial experts have to fortify their agencies against demands.

The bank of France is following a policy of increasing its reserve-it has now $92,000,000.

It is contrasted with the English 4-1-2.

The Imperial Bank of Germany is the available for gold.

It is the suggestion of some that it has built up much of its stock in its history.

It is not these considerations apply to the bank of England's position? Is it necessary to be in a war with the Powers over the 2-1-2 or any other matter?

It is not London's position that it is in a war with the Powers over the 2-1-2 or any other matter?

DELIGHTS ON POLITICS

By JAMES B. NEVIN.

Governor McInnes, in appointing Charles L. Davis, of Warm Springs, as Game Commissioner of Georgia, has rewarded a faithful, firm, untiring and enthusiastic friend of the birds, squirrels and fish of the state.

Mr. Davis has been, in season and out, for years and years, a persistent advocate of more and more rigid game laws. He has believed this course to be right because of the ever growing scarcity of game, and from a humane point of view, too.

Legislature after Legislature turned a cold ear to his pleadings. His managed to get bills through one house only to have them killed in the other. He worked on and on, however, he never wavered in well doing.

The result was as generally the case when one stands for the right, no matter how unpopular it may seem at first, he soon gathers about him a following that grew from day to day, and from month and year to month and year, until at last it was sufficiently large to make itself effective in the halls of legislation, and have its game law passed.

And it became possible, moreover, to have the game law enforced.

The Governor, however, in making the change, was not making a concession to the game law, but was making a concession to the game law.

It is not the game law, but the game law.

COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Business at the opening of the cotton market today was active and the market was weak.

A big decline of 10 to 15 points from the close of yesterday's session was the result of the chief factors responsible for the weak was the clearance of the market. The low barometer in the west was still located over Kansas.

EDDIE PLANK IS ONE OF ATHLETICS' TRUMP CARDS FOR WORLD'S SERIES

VETERAN PICKED TO PLAY LEAD ROLE IN 'DRAMA'

For Thirteen Years the Great Southpaw Has Been Winning Consistently.

By J. W. McConaughy.

Some months ago Mr. Ben Johnson, the fat goalkeeper of the American League, ordered his men to pick up the speed of base running as to send the Lord's home in time for dinner.

These instructions in mind, he approached a famous veteran pitcher in a game in Philadelphia, suggested that he smoke up a few stiffs so much time he could smoke.

The veteran looked grave. Instead of agreeing the umpire with his views as to the state of that official's hat, the pitcher of the brain and the character of the foodstuffs he gently replied:

"You see, I'm getting along toward forty and I can't hit it up with these fellows. If I'm going to pitch my own game I have to take my own time."

The umpire was abashed—which is a remarkable thing for a man to be. The veteran proceeded to give the umpire from and on the subject of the umpire and on the subject of the umpire and on the subject of the umpire.

He has been at it ever since he was a boy and in the time he has been at it he has won more games than he has lost. He has won more games than he has lost.

CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DuBOISE COMPANY
ATLANTA NEW YORK PARISA Wonderfully Fine Display of Dresses for Every Occasion

Simple little affairs for mornings.
Smart street dresses.
More elaborate afternoon and reception dresses.
Dainty dancing frocks.
Glorious evening dresses.
Such a display should be a matter of great satisfaction to Atlanta women. It means very positively that they are going to have the whole list of this season's accepted styles to choose from.

And this is a season of varied styles. It takes just such a showing to do the dress question fitting justice, to show all the styles, that you may be the one you would have it.

And now, with its precious contents we present

The Little Blue Room

Wherein for the future the daintiest of evening dresses will hold dominion.

It is right here at the dress section, but a secluded spot where women may enjoy greater privacy in trying on dresses.

Simply furnished, in mahogany, with rich, deep blue carpet and hangings and heavy plated mirrors, a fitting home for these exclusive fashions.

It is another step toward better service.

However, the Little Blue Room is not the attraction that we would emphasize. But the dresses, newly arrived, reflecting the true Paris styles—these are notable triumphs and we take a bit of pride in asking the women of Atlanta to see them.

The Season's Woolens

A display that grants you the privilege of making up your own mind!

Sit here for half an hour and have one new fabric after another spread before you.

Does your taste turn to the simple and unobtrusive? Does it turn to the rich, gorgeous fabrics that have such a claim on the fashions this Fall?

It matters little.

They are here.

You will not be urged one way or the other.

But these are some of the notables—

The Season's Silks

Not just a few to choose from, but a splendid array—as broad as fashion itself, but no broader.

We have excluded the bizarre that too often clutters ordinary silk stores when the style tendencies turn toward richness of fabric and patterns.

The silks you are invited to see here are those that women of good taste will want—because they are really marks of true beauty.

Crepe Meteors $2.00

Brocade Silks at $2.50 to $7.50 a yard, that are variously named and variously rich—chambrase, meadow, poplins, failles—many, many shades—many new ones, including corbeau, tete de negre, copper, bronze and morning light.

Tuberculosis germs always attack when the system is weakened from cold or sickness, overwork, overstrain, confined quarters or any condition which has reduced the resistive forces of the body. But nature always provides a corrective and the best physicians emphasize that during changing climate our blood should be kept rich and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion makes the body by enriching the blood with the purest of cod liver oil and by stimulating the resistive forces of the body to avoid cold and prevent consumption.

How Congress Came to the Aid of the Western Timber Grafters

In the Western forests log rolling is part of the business of the timber corporations. There they do the job with men, mules and donkey engines.

In the National Capitol log rolling is also part of the business of the timber corporations. There they do the job with money, tools and donkey Congressmen.

Witness a round, unvarnished tale of facts.

Among the railroad corporations which obtained grants of land on the public domain in that period of Congressional corruption and thieving following the close of the Civil War was the Oregon and California Railroad Company, with lines running South from Portland through the fertile valleys and timbered hills of Western Oregon. This corporation was granted two million three hundred and sixty thousand acres, and of that immense area, much was covered with the finest timber standing on this continent.

One provision of this grant was peculiar to it. The act of Congress stipulated that the California Railroad Company should sell these lands ONLY TO ACTUAL SETTLERS. IN LOTS NOT TO EXCEED 160 ACRES TO EACH PURCHASER AND AT A PRICE NOT TO EXCEED TWO DOLLARS AND A HALF AN ACRE.

The stipulation was plain and concise. The penalty for violating was forfeiture of the grant.

The Oregon and California Railroad took over the land and promptly proceeded to ignore and violate the stipulations of the grant. It segregated the land into lots of any size that suited its convenience and sold these lots at whatever prices it could obtain; and the price was always in excess, and frequently from ten to twenty times in excess, of the figure fixed by Congress.

In the year 1906 a joint resolution of the Senate and House directed the Attorney General of the United States to bring suit in equity to forfeit the titles of the railroad company and those holding by purchase from it, to the lands embraced in the grant. The suit was pressed to trial and the Government won.

On August 20, 1913, an act of Congress was approved which provided that individuals or corporations claiming by purchase from the Oregon and California Railroad Company land embraced in the original grant, can procure a decree of final forfeiture and re-obtain title to the same land by paying two dollars and a half an acre to the United States.

The usual verbiage and fumadiddle which distinguishes statesmen's efforts to write English when traveling in birth with a statute are not absent from the full text of this act, but the essence is stated.

Having log rolled this bill through Congress, the timber grabbing corporations have since been as busy as a boy in a preserving pantry, petitioning the Federal courts to declare their titles forfeited, and then regaining title by paying to the Government $2.50 an acre for their immensely valuable and illegally obtained tract of timber. One corporation alone, the C. A. Smith Lumber Company, has just obtained in this way, in the United States District Court in Portland, possession of more than 20,000 acres of standing timber.

It was the express direction of the Act of Congress establishing the original grant that these timber lands should be sold to actual settlers only, and in lots not to exceed 160 acres in size. Because the railroad did sell these timber lands in lots of thousands of acres to timber corporations, the grant was declared forfeited, and having obtained forfeiture on this showing, the Government turns around, and by virtue of the Act log rolls through Congress by the timber grabbers a year ago, conveys to the same identical timber grabber the same identical public timber lands in lots of the same identical illegal size.

So that, in the case stands.

The railroad keeps the money it obtained from the original illegal sales.

The timber grabbers again have possession of the immense tracts they illegally got from the railroad.

And now listen again. By virtue of this same act, log rolled in the interest of the timber grabbers, the small tract owner, who bought his 160-acre parcel in good faith and paid the railroad for it years ago, LOSES HIS LAND UNLESS HE GOES THROUGH THE SAME PROCESS INVITED BY THE TIMBER GRABBERS TO OBTAIN THEIR GRIP UPON THEIR ILLEGALLY OBTAINED HOLDINGS.

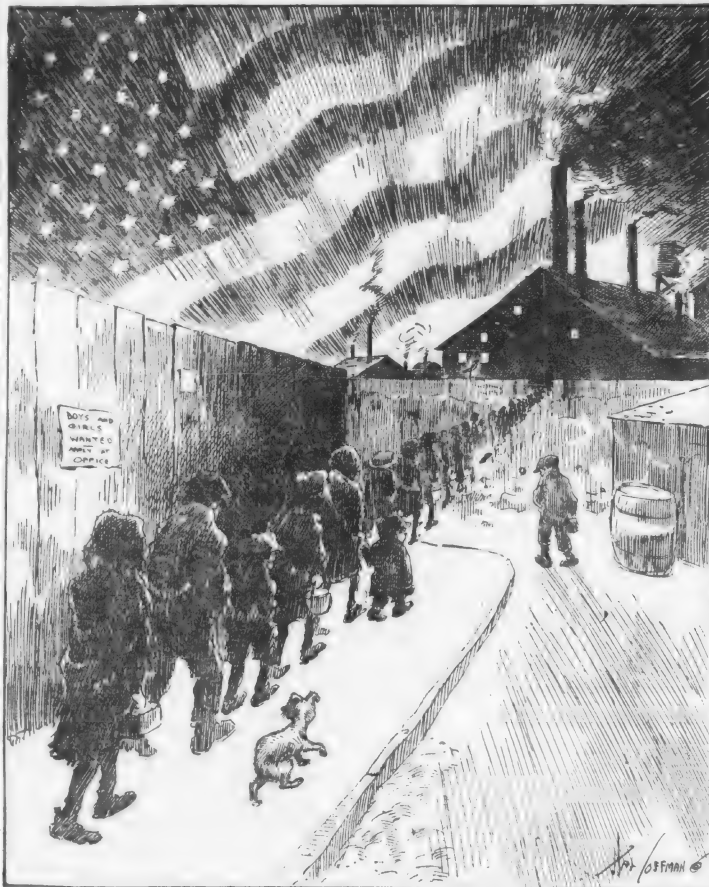

He must go to court, file a stipulation of forfeiture to the Government, and buy back his land from the Government at the original price of $2.50 an acre.

And no matter whether he paid the railroad company $3 or $30 an acre for his land, THE RAILROAD KEEPS THE MONEY HE PAID IT, and he must pay to the Government the price originally fixed by Congress in the grant to the railroad.

In short, the Government of the United States having forfeited the Oregon and California Railroad Company's land grant, because that corporation disobeyed the plain directions of Congress that these lands should be sold only to ACTUAL SETTLERS IN 160-ACRE LOTS now adopts the exact methods of the offending corporation, and sells the same lands, in the same huge parcels, to the same timber corporations, in the same disregard of the original instrument of grant, and WITH THE SAME

Our Atmosphere Great Mine of Riches

It Is Filled With Nature's Treasures, Which Mankind Has Only Just Begun to Appreciate.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

For many years the atmosphere has been regarded as a waste, a nuisance, a source of pollution. But now it is being recognized as a great mine of riches, a source of many valuable resources.

The atmosphere is a vast storehouse of wealth. It contains oxygen, nitrogen, carbon dioxide, and many other gases. These gases are essential for life, and they are also the raw materials for many industries. The atmosphere is a great mine of riches, and it is only now that we are beginning to appreciate its value.

The air over a small part of the earth is rich in fertile power. This power is the result of the action of the sun's rays on the atmosphere. The sun's rays heat the air, and this causes the air to expand and rise. As the air rises, it cools, and the moisture in the air condenses into clouds. These clouds then release rain, which falls to the earth. This rain is the source of the fertile power of the atmosphere.

The fertile power of the atmosphere is a great resource. It is the source of the energy that drives the weather and the climate. It is the source of the energy that powers the sun and the stars. It is the source of the energy that makes life possible on earth.

Carbon dioxide, which is a waste product of the combustion of fossil fuels, is a valuable resource. It is the raw material for the production of many chemicals, including soda ash, which is used in the production of glass and paper. Carbon dioxide is also a valuable resource for the production of synthetic rubber and other plastics.

The atmosphere is a great mine of riches. It contains many valuable resources, and it is only now that we are beginning to appreciate its value. We must learn to use these resources wisely, and we must learn to protect the atmosphere from pollution.

Exploitation of Air's Industrial Riches Has Only Begun.

The great reducing process in the atmosphere is the production of oxygen. Oxygen is a valuable resource, and it is the raw material for many industries. The production of oxygen is a process that has only just begun, and it is expected that it will become a major industry in the future.

The atmosphere is a great mine of riches. It contains many valuable resources, and it is only now that we are beginning to appreciate its value. We must learn to use these resources wisely, and we must learn to protect the atmosphere from pollution.

THE HEALTH OF GREAT CITIES

We Are Adding to the Healthfulness of Great Cities Every Year, He Says. We Are Successfully Battling With Almost Every One of the More Dangerous Diseases.

By REV. CHARLES F. AKED, D. D.
Written for The Atlanta Georgian.

President Eliot of Harvard is correctly reported to have said in a more than usually despondent vein when he opened the International Congress of Social Hygiene at Buffalo. It may be that the reporters misunderstood him; but they represent him as sounding a note of warning over the deadly and destructive life which we all live in the big cities. According to the reports, Dr. Eliot said that—

"The progressive civilization of the last hundred years has worked terribly against the health and perpetuity of the whole race; and that such cities as Paris, London, Berlin, New York and Chicago bear witness to the fact that modern civilization is all the time preparing and promoting its own destruction."

Precisely the contrary is true. We are adding to the healthfulness of great cities every year. We are successfully battling with almost every one of the more dangerous diseases. And each successive generation sees an enormous span added on to the average duration of human life.

In the latest edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, an Englishman of science, in an article upon "Longevity," speaks with great positiveness and in a sense diametrically opposed to Dr. Eliot. He says:

"There seems to be almost no doubt but that the average duration of life has increased with civilization. The generally improved conditions of life, the greater care of the young and of the aged, and the advance in medical and surgical science have all more than outweighed any depressing effect caused by the more strenuous and nervous activity required by modern social organization. The expectation of life of those who attain the age of sixty years with race, sex and occupation, but is certainly increasing, and an increasing number of persons have a chance of reaching and do reach ages between ninety and a hundred."

The decline of the death rate in practically every civilized country on the globe during the last fifty years is one of the outstanding facts of experience. It varied from 15 per cent in Russia to 38 per cent in England and 33 per cent in Holland. The "expectation of life" has, to be sure, proportionately increased, so that at birth the human being has an "expectation" of 45 years of life and that is more than at any period of the world's history which has preserved statistics. The "expectation of life" agreed upon by the great life insurance companies of this country is necessarily worked out on a lower scale—else there would be no profits. For according to this scale a person of 60 may expect to live to be 85. The records of the eighteenth century or of the seventeenth century so far as there are any can show nothing like this.

ONE has only to recall one's own youth. In my native city of Nottingham, England, there was a cemetery known by the name of "The cholera burying-ground." The name tells the story—evidences of DEFEAT OF THE COMMON PEOPLE'S RIGHTS TO SETTLE UPON AND HOMESTEAD THIS PUBLIC DOMAIN.

And as an incident of this scheme of daylight burglary, the innocent purchaser, who bought his little tract in good faith after having been bunked by the railroad with a worthless deed is now held up with a legal pistol pointed at his head by the very Government to which he went for redress of his wrong, and is ordered to stand and deliver again.

One can not sufficiently sympathize with a Congressman who voted for this remarkable plan of punishing a law-abiding corporation and safe-guarding the common people's rights to their own public mind. It must be an enormous strain upon his intelligence each morning to tell whether the head he is combing is his own or that of a pin.

The effect of the in-shoots is to give a public mind a sense of the danger of the situation.
